Brief Sketches of Advisers of the New President.

MAJORITY OF THEM LAWYERS

Although But Few of Them Are at Present Engaged in That Profession Secretary of Agriculture Wilson Likely to Break the Record for Continuous Cabinet Service—Hitchcock the Youngest Member.

Washington, March 5.—The following are brief sketches of the members of the cabinet of President Taft, as officially announced:

Philander Chase Knox, Mr. Taft's secretary of state, re-enters the cabinet after five years in the United States senate, to which he was appointed in June, 1904, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Matthew

PHILANDER C. KNOX.

S. Quay. Like most of his colleagues in the new cabinet Mr. Knox is a lawyer and first came into national prominence as attorney general in Mr. McKinley's first cabinet, when he successfully prosecuted the Northern Securities case. Mr. Knox is fifty-six years old, having been born in Brownsville, Pa., May 6, 1853. After graduating from Mount Union college at Alliance, O., he began the study of law in Pittsburgh later and three years later was admitted to the bar in that city. During the Homestead riots in 1892 he was counsel for the Carnegie Steel company and directed the legal end of that famous labor disturbance. When in 1901 Mr. McKinley appointed him attorney general Mr. Knox's participation in the Homestead affair caused some opposition on the part of labor organizations to his confirmation.

Franklin MacVeagh.

Franklin MacVeagh, merchant, secretary of the treasury, was born on a farm near Phoenixville, Chester county, Pa. He was graduated from Yale as B. A. in 1862 and from Columbia law school, New York, in 1864, and began practice with his brother, Wayne MacVeagh, but, his health failing, he abandoned law and went West. Shortly after he established in Chicago the wholesale grocery house of Franklin MacVeagh & Co., which for many years has been one of the largest in the country and from which it is reported he has only recently resigned. He is also a director of the Commercial National bank and other Chicago corporations.

Mr. MacVeagh is distinguished in Chicago not only as a most successful merchant, but especially for his active work in behalf of civic progress and reform.

Jacob M. Dickinson.

Jacob McGavock Dickinson, the new secretary of war, is the Southern member of President Taft's cabinet. A Mississippian by birth he is a citizen of Tennessee and as a Cleveland Democrat supported Mr. Taft for the presidency. Probably his most notable public service was as counsel for the United States in the Alaskan boundary case before the arbitration tribunal in London in 1903. He was an assistant attorney general of the United States during Cleveland's administration and has been general counsel for the Illinois Central Railroad company for some years, spending most of his time in Chicago, where the general offices of that company are located. Mr. Dickinson is fifty-eight years old. He is president of the American Bar association.

George von Lengerke Meyer.

George von Lengerke Meyer, who goes from the postmaster general's office to the navy department, was brought into the cabinet in February, 1906, to succeed Postmaster General Cortelyou. He was at that time ambassador to St. Petersburg, to which post he had been transferred from Rome, where he had served five years as ambassador. Mr. Meyer is a native of Boston, in which city he was born in 1858. After graduating from Harvard he entered the employ of a commission firm and some years later became a member of the firm of Linder & Meyer, East India merchants, which had been established by his father. He is an officer or director in many large manufacturing and financial concerns and has always been active in politics, having been a member of the Boston common council, an alderman, a member of the state legislature, serving as speaker of the lower house for three consecutive years.

Richard A. Ballinger.

Four states may claim a proprietary interest in Richard A. Ballinger, the new secretary of the interior. He is a native of Iowa, having been born in

RICHARD A. BALLINGER.

Boonsboro in 1859; after practicing law in Illinois for a while he removed to Alabama and in 1889 he became a resident of Port Townsend, in Washington state. The next year he was appointed United States commissioner at Port Townsend and later was elected judge of the superior court of Jefferson county. Five years ago Mr

Hallinger was elected mayor of Seattle and when his term as mayor expired President Roosevelt appointed him commissioner of the general land office.

Frank H. Hitchcock.

Although the youngest member of the new cabinet Frank H. Hitchcock, Mr. Taft's postmaster general, is probably better known to the general public than any of his colleagues by reason of the prominence he obtained as chairman of the Republican national committee in the recent campaign. Mr. Hitchcock is only forty-two years of age and since he left school has been in the employ of the government. He is a native of Ohio, but received his education in Massachusetts, to which state his parents removed while he was quite young. In Mr. Roosevelt's first campaign he was assistant secretary to the Republican national committee and was later appointed first assistant postmaster general.

George W. Wickersham.

New York's representative in the new cabinet is George W. Wickersham, who becomes attorney general. Mr. Wickersham is a member of the law firm in which President Taft's brother, Henry W. Taft, is a partner and he is known as an expert in railroad law. Although a resident of New York city Mr. Wickersham is a native of Pennsylvania, having been born in Pittsburgh in 1858. He first took civil engineering at Lehigh university, but later entered the law school of the University of Pennsylvania, from which he holds the degree of bachelor of laws. He immediately entered practice in Philadelphia, but later went to New York and associated himself with the firm of Chamberlain, Carter & Hornblower. A year later he became managing clerk of the firm of Strong & Cadwalader, of which President Taft's brother is a member, and eventually was taken into partnership.

James Wilson.

If Secretary Wilson continues to hold the agricultural portfolio until next November he will have broken the record for continuous cabinet service, which is now held by Albert Gallatin, once secretary of the treasury, who served twelve years, eight months and twenty-five days. Secretary Wilson was appointed at the outset of the McKinley administration. He was born in Ayrshire, Scotland, in 1825, and at the age of seventeen was brought to this country by his parents. He was educated in the public schools of Iowa and at Iowa college. He engaged in farming and, entering state politics, was a member of the Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth assemblies of Iowa, being elected speaker of the assembly in his last term. He served three terms in congress.

Charles Nagel.

Charles Nagel of St. Louis, the new secretary of commerce and labor, is better known among lawyers and educators than to the public at large, although he served as a member of the Missouri house of representatives and is a member of the Republican national committee. He is a native Westerner, having been born in Colorado county, Tex., in 1849. In the height of the Civil war the pronounced Union sentiments of Mr. Nagel compelled him to remove from Texas to St. Louis. Mr. Nagel, as the Missouri member of the Republican national committee, served during the recent campaign as a member of the executive committee and was in charge of the Western headquarters.

CHANGE SCARCELY NOTICED

Sixtieth Congress Ends and the Sixty-first Begins.

Washington, March 5.—When the Sixtieth congress came to an end it glided into the Sixty-first so imperceptibly that the change was scarcely noticeable.

The final act, though unofficial insofar as the house was concerned, took place in the senate chamber, where both houses witnessed the incoming of the new administration.

The senate will meet today to consider President Taft's nominations, but the house will not convene again until the beginning of the extra session of congress to be called for March 15.

The senate proceedings were confined to the most formal work, mainly adoption of the complete report of the conferees on the pension appropriation bill, the last of the great supply measures, which the house also passed within one hour of adjournment, and the appointment of two or three commissions in accordance with recent congressional enactments. Vice President Fairbanks delivered an address in response to resolutions thanking him for his conduct of the office. Immediately after adjournment of the Sixtieth congress, the proclamation of the president calling the senate in extraordinary session to consider presidential appointments was read at the direction of the new vice president, Mr. Sherman.

Utterly lacking in all the stirring incidents usually marking the closing of congress, the house was declared by Speaker Cannon to be adjourned without day.

Speaker Cannon received a unanimous vote of thanks, which he acknowledged amid loud applause.

GOES BACK TO THE SENATE

Stephenson Is Elected to Succeed Himself.

Wisconsin Legislative Joint Assembly Gives Stephenson a Majority of One Vote—Scene of Confusion Follows Announcement of the Result—All Glad That the Long and Bitter Fight Is Ended.

Madison, Wis., March 5.—United States Senator Isaac Stephenson, who has completed the unexpired term of John C. Spooner, was on the twenty-third ballot in the Wisconsin legislative joint assembly elected to succeed himself for a period of six years. Senator Stephenson received 63 out of 123 votes, thus having a majority of one.

There was considerable applause in the galleries at the result of the election and on the floor of the chamber the Stephenson men congratulated each other. In the confusion which followed, some of those who had been against Stephenson from the first rushed to the side of the Stephenson men and congratulated them. All were glad that the fight was over.

The election of Senator Stephenson ended what has been a bitter fight extending over a period of five weeks.

There were ten absentees when the vote was taken. Of these, Assemblymen Ramsey, Farrell and Towne were in town but remained away from the joint convention. Of the seven others, Randolph and Daub, Scott and James, and Onstad and Peterson were paired. Assemblyman James Fenelon is sick.

Ramsey did not care to be interviewed as to his absence; Farrell said he "just walked out" and Towne was visiting in the cloakroom with a friend at the time the vote was taken.

Charges Against Stephenson.

Although Senator Stephenson was the successful candidate at the primary election, his opponents had fought against his election by the legislature because of the filing of a number of specific charges by Senator John J. Blaine, alleging corruption during the primary campaign. Before the time for balloting arrived a movement was started looking to a legislative inquiry into the senatorial primary and after somewhat of a struggle a joint resolution pointing to that end was adopted. While the investigation has been in progress two weeks, nothing has developed so far that would endanger Mr. Stephenson's seat in the senate.

The friends of Senator Stephenson claim he was really elected on the separate ballot of both houses preceding the joint ballot on Jan. 26. when he received a majority of the ballots cast in each house. Lieutenant Governor Strang, however, refused to recognize an election, and ballots have been taken in joint assembly every day since that time that the legislature has been in session.

As soon as the result of the joint ballot was announced, Senator Blaine, who was author of the charges against Senator Stephenson, secured recognition and entered a protest against the election on the alleged ground that Stephenson had violated the corrupt practices act.

The chair said such a protest would be admitted to the records.

Lieutenant Governor Strang was visibly affected when before dissolving the joint assembly he thanked the members for their courteous consideration.

NOTHING OF IMPORTANCE

Developed at Hearing of Investigating Committee.

Madison, Wis., March 5.—Little of importance developed at the hearing of the senatorial primary investigating committee, Charles K. Lush, manager for W. H. Hatton, one of the Republican candidates, told frankly what he knew of the campaign organization in Hatton's interest and some questions he could not answer further than to say "I simply don't know." Mr. Lush did not know whether or not Mr. Hatton was Senator La Follette's candidate. He had talked with Mr. Hatton regarding the latter's support, but did not remember any specific allusions to Senator La Follette. Lush said that La Follette said to him, "You know I'm taking no part in this." The witness did not know of any items of expense not contained in the accounts filed.

The committee decided to subpoena all Stephenson men who received $500 or more of the campaign funds.

W. C. Cowling, manager for S. A. Cook, appeared and corroborated his candidate's testimony.

DESPONDENT MAN A SUICIDE

Ends His Life by Inhaling Illuminating Gas.

New York, March 5.—Made despondent by ill-health and the collapse of a number of financial and industrial undertakings which he had launched, Frank C. Hollins, a brother of H. B. Hollins, the well known Wall street banker, and himself a financier and company promoter of note, committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas.

The body of the man, who was sixty years old and until recently a patient in a sanitarium for nervous and mental ailments, was discovered in the room occupied by him as a lodger in a private family with a rubber hose firmly fastened to his mouth.

Woman Commits Suicide.

Minneapolis, March 5.—Another victim of the wave of suicidal depression which seems to be sweeping over Minneapolis was added to the roll, making a total of six deaths in ten days, when Mrs. Carl M. Schmidt, aged 55 years, and the mother of ten children, hanged herself in the stairway of her home. No cause for her act is known outside of the fact that she had been ill and despondent for some time.

CITIZEN ROOSEVELT AT SAGAMORE HILL

Former President Now Resting in His Own Home.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 5.—Citizen Roosevelt, free from all official cares, rests peacefully in his own home on Sagamore Hill, three miles from this village, after having gone through one of the busiest weeks in his entire life—the final week of his seven years' administration as president of the United States, which came to an end at noon Thursday. As an ordinary gentleman and lady of the land instead of the first gentleman and lady of the land, the ex-president and Mrs. Roosevelt journeyed from the nation's capital to Oyster Bay after the cares of office had been lifted from the former's shoulders and placed upon those of William Howard Taft. It was in the most democratic manner that the trip from Washington to Oyster Bay was made.

At the end of the ten-hour journey, after a day of momentous events, the former president seemed somewhat weary, but was in the best of spirits. The long trip from Washington was delayed over three hours between that city and Philadelphia by the results of the storm.

There was a crowd of from 200 to 300 of his neighbors on hand, whom neither the lateness of the hour, the biting wind nor the snow-covered roads could deter from waiting to greet their famous fellow townsman.

WIDOW OF BISHOP POTTER

Dies After an Illness Extending Over Several Days.

New York, March 5.—Mrs. Elizabeth Scriven Potter, widow of Bishop Henry C. Potter, died at her home here after an illness extending over several days. She survived Bishop Potter only eight months.

Mrs. Potter, whose first husband, Alfred Corning Clark, left her an estate of several millions, was very much interested in charity and it was through her interest in charitable institutions conducted by the Protestant Episcopal church that the friendship was first formed which resulted in her marriage to the late bishop of New York.

Mrs. Potter had been for years suffering from Bright's disease, but nothing in her recent condition had prepared her relatives and friends for her death on such short notice.

sham, who becomes attorney general.
Mr. Wickersham is a member of the height of the Civil war the pronounced Union sentiments of Mr. Nagel com-

Sixtieth Congress Ends and the Sixty-first Begins.

Washington, March 5.—When the Sixtieth congress came to an end it glided into the Sixty-first so imperceptibly that the change was scarcely noticeable.

The final act, though unofficial insofar as the house was concerned, took place in the senate chamber,

coming of the new administration.

The senate will meet today to consider President Taft's nominations, but the house will not convene again until the beginning of the extra session of congress to be called for March 15.

The senate proceedings were confined to the most formal work, mainly adoption of the complete report of the conference on the pension appropriation bill, the last of the great supply measures, which the house also passed within one hour of adjournment, and the appointment of two or three commissions in accordance with recent congressional enactments. Vice President Fairbanks delivered an address in response to resolutions thanking him for his conduct of the office. Immediately after adjournment of the Sixtieth congress, the proclamation of the president calling the senate in extraordinary session to consider presidential appointments was read at the direction of the new vice president, Mr. Sherman.

Utterly lacking in all the stirring incidents usually marking the closing of congress, the house was declared by Speaker Cannon to be adjourned with-

Speaker Cannon received a unanimous vote of thanks, which he ac-knowledgeed amid loud applause.

GOES BACK TO THE SENATE

Stephenson Is Elected to Succeed Himself.

Wisconsin Legislative Joint Assembly Gives Stephenson a Majority of One Vote—Scene of Confusion Follows Announcement of the Result—All Glad That the Long and Bitter Fight Is Ended.

Madison, Wis., March 5.—United States Senator Isaac Stephenson, who has completed the unexpired term of John C. Spooner, was on the twenty-third ballot in the Wisconsin legislative joint assembly elected to succeed himself for a period of six years. Senator Stephenson received 63 out of 123 votes, thus having a majority of one.

There was considerable applause in the galleries at the result of the election and on the floor of the chamber the Stephenson men congratulated each other. In the confusion which followed, some of those who had been against Stephenson from the first rushed to the side of the Stephenson men and congratulated them. All were glad that the fight was over.

The election of Senator Stephenson ended what has been a bitter fight extending over a period of five weeks.

There were ten absentees when the vote was taken. Of these, Assemblymen Ramsey, Farrell and Towne were in town but remained away from the joint convention. Of the seven others, Randolph and Daub, Scott and James, and Onstad and Peterson were paired. Assemblyman James Fenelon is sick.

Ramsey did not care to be interviewed as to his absence; Farrell said he "just walked out" and Towne was visiting in the cloakroom with a friend at the time the vote was taken.

Charges Against Stephenson.

Although Senator Stephenson was the successful candidate at the primary election, his opponents had fought against his election by the legislature because of the filing of a number of specific charges by Senator John J. Blaine, alleging corruption during the primary campaign.
Before the time for balloting arrived a movement was started looking to a legislative inquiry into the senatorial primary and after somewhat of a struggle a joint resolution pointing to that end was adopted. While the investigation has been in progress two weeks, nothing has developed so far that would endanger Mr. Stephenson's seat in the senate.

The friends of Senator Stephenson claim he was really elected on the separate ballot of both houses preceding the joint ballot on Jan. 26, when he received a majority of the ballots cast in each house. Lieutenant Governor Strange, however, refused to recognize an election, and ballots have been taken in joint assembly every day since that time that the legislature has been in session.

As soon as the result of the joint ballot was announced, Senator Blaine, who was author of the charges against Senator Stephenson, secured recognition and entered a protest against the election on the alleged ground that Stephenson had violated the corrupt practices act.

The chair said such a protest would be admitted to the records.

Lieutenant Governor Strange was visibly affected when before dissolving the joint assembly he thanked the members for their courteous consideration.

NOTHING OF IMPORTANCE

Developed at Hearing of Investigating Committee.

Madison, Wis., March 5.—Little of importance developed at the hearing of the senatorial primary investigating committee. Charles K. Lush, manager for W. H. Hatton, one of the Republican candidates, told frankly what he knew of the campaign organization in Hatton's interest and some questions he could not answer further than to say "I simply don't know." Mr. Lush did not know whether or not Mr. Hatton was Senator La Follette's candidate. He had talked with Mr. Hatton regarding the latter's support, but did not remember any specific allusions to Senator La Follette. Lush said that La Follette said to him, "You know I'm taking no part in this." The witness did not know of any items of expense not contained in the accounts filed.

The committee decided to subpoena all Stephenson men who received $500 or more of the campaign funds.

W. C. Cowling, manager for S. A.
Cook, appeared and corroborated his candidate's testimony.

DESPONDENT MAN A SUICIDE

Ends His Life by Inhaling Illuminating Gas.

New York, March 5.—Made despondent by ill-health and the collapse of a number of financial and industrial undertakings which he had launched, Frank C. Hollins, a brother of H. B.
Hollins, the well known Wall street banker, and himself a financier and company promoter of note, committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas.

The body of the man, who was sixty years old and until recently a patient in a sanitarium for nervous and mental ailments, was discovered in the room occupied by him as a lodger in a private family with a rubber hose firmly fastened to his mouth.

Minneapolis, March 5.—Another victim of the wave of suicidal depression which seems to be sweeping over M-neapolis was added to the roll, making a total of six deaths in ten days, of Mrs. Carl M. Schmidt, aged 55 years, and the mother of ten children, hanged herself in the stairway of her home. No cause for her act is known outside of the fact that she had been ill and despondent for some time.

Former President Now Resting in His Own Home.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 5.—Citizen Roosevelt, free from all official cares, rests peacefully in his own home on Sagamore Hill, three miles from this village, after having gone through one of the busiest weeks in his entire life—the final week of his seven years' administration as president of the United States, which came to an end at noon Thursday. As an ordinary gentleman and lady of the land instead of the first gentleman and lady of the land, the ex-president and Mrs. Roosevelt journeyed from the nation's capital to Oyster Bay after the cares of office had been lifted from the former's shoulders and placed upon those of William Howard Taft. It was in the most democratic manner that the trip from Washington to Oyster Bay was made.

At the end of the ten-hour journey, after a day of momentous events, the former president seemed somewhat weary, but was in the best of spirits.
The long trip from Washington was delayed over three hours between that city and Philadelphia by the results of the storm.

There was a crowd of from 200 to 300 of his neighbors on hand, whom neither the lateness of the hour, the biting wind nor the snow-covered roads could deter from waiting to greet their famous fellow townsman.

Dies After an Illness Extending Over Several Days.

New York, March 5.—Mrs. Elizabeth Scriven Potter, widow of Bishop Henry C. Potter, died at her home here after an illness extending over several days. She survived Bishop Potter only eight months.

Mrs. Potter, whose first husband, Alfred Corning Clark, left her an estate of several millions, was very much interested in charity and it was through her interest in charitable institutions conducted by the Protestant Episcopal church that the friendship was first formed which resulted in her marriage to the late bishop of New York.

Mrs. Potter had been for years suffering from Bright's disease, but nothing in her recent condition had prepared her relatives and friends for her death on such short notice.

WEATHER FORECAST

Threatening weather with rain or snow tonight and probably east portion Saturday. colder west portion Saturday.

WHAT are you going to do for the "makin's" when the anti-cigarette bill becomes a law?

MOTLEY has a new postmaster in the person of E. G. Haymaker, editor of the Mercury. The appointment was made Wednesday.

AN eastern authority on the subject says it takes $1.80 worth of wool to make a $50 suit of clothes. Well, that's little enough.

THEY are growing lemons down at Princeton, as well as potatoes. You can hand almost anyone a lemon but it takes cash to offer your friend a potato these days.

LITTLE FALLS is to have its proposition to the Armours considered by the company at once, according to a telegram received in response to the cash and land offer as a bonus.

THE Minneapolis Flambeau club refused to march in the inaugural parade unless they could be in advance of the St. Paul Roosevelt club. That is carrying the packing plant fight to extremes.

AN expression of sentiment of the women of Minnesota as to their right
and willingness to vote is to be taken in 1910 if the bill of A. K. Ware becomes a law. The vote at that time will only be an expression as to whether or not they wish the right to vote in the future.

Two St. Cloud boys have been recommended by Congressman Lindbergh,
one for appointment at the naval school
at Annapolis, and one at the army school at West Point. A. U. Hammerel and Nathaniel Quikstad are the young men who will take the examinations.

WITH the spring election only a month away there is less talk of prospective candidates for city office than ever before in the history of the municipality.
One suggestion is that the people are satisfied with the present administration and there is no need of stirring matters up.

THE primary election law will not be repealed by the present legislature, which is as it should be. All the law needs to make it perfectly acceptable is a little tinkering to take away the objectionable features, but the legislature seems to be afraid to undertake the job for fear of impairing the law already on the statute books.

THE Alderman bill limiting the number of saloons to one for every 500 people does not interfere with present conditions, but provides that no more shall be permitted until the population of a city or town shall be in excess of 500
for each saloon. In smaller places it will have a tendency to keep the traffic within bonds. The bill has passed the senate.

THE FUTURE OF THIS IRON STATE

Those who imagine the tonnage tax issue is confined to St. Louis county have another guess to make. The field of active mining operations has now extended well into Itasca county, and the next scene of large operations will probably be Crow Wing county.

That ludicrous time over which so many wisacres "lop their chops," when the Mesaba range will be but a succesion of "holes in the ground," may come some day. But long before then processes will be common that will make the so-called "low-grade ores" re-merchandise.

Indeed a man in Michigan already believes he has discovered a process by which the iron from two tons of such ore can be changed to "pig" at a less cost than now extracts the ore from the highest grade Bessemer. He has given years to this work and millions of dollars in capital are backing his efforts, while scientific minerologists, chemists
and experimenters in processes believe he has solved the problem.

Whether he has or not, it is certain some one will, and that within the very near future. What this means to Minnesota every child knows or should know, for no one longer questions that all northeastern Minnesota is a vast field of iron.

Mr. Thomas F. Cole surprised a Duluth audience only two years ago with the assertion that the iron in Minnesota extended to within fifty miles of the Twin cities, and nearly to the western boundary of the state. Yet in the short time since, his statement has largely been verified.

It is now positively known that there is ore in large quantities in Cass, Carl-ton, Crow Wing, Morrison, Ottertail, Stearns, Hubbard, Aitkin, Todd and Beltrami counties as well as in St. Louis, Itasca and Cook. The ore beds of this county may be but holes in the ground fifty years from now, though few of its people who know best believe this;
but if they are in the mining activities of the state will be but removed to other counties.

Nothing of the future can be more certain than that Minnesota will be the center of the nation's iron supply not
for fifty but for two hundred years,
and that mere common sense points to the fact that this should be the center of steel manufacture for the great northwest.

It would seem natural that the people of the state should wish to hasten
this day, not retard it. And they do, but many of their representatives at
St. Paul either mistake this sentiment or are misrepresenting it.—Duluth
News-Tribune.

SIZING UP THE BABY.

Varying Views of the Different Members of the Family.

This is what the Browns had to say
of the latest addition to the family:

The Mother—Oh, isn't he the cutest, grandest, handsomest, smartest little
Such features! Such shoulders! And hear him talk, will you? Why, he understands perfectly every word I say.

The Father—There's a boy for you!
Smith will brag about that kid of his,
will he? Well, you just wait until this youngster is a month old, and I'll take the conceit out of Smith!

Little Bobby—So that's what the stork brought, eh? Gee, the stork must have it in for this family!

Little Bella—Oh, ma, he's swallowed all his teeth, and all his hair's blowed off!

Bachelor Brother—I don't want to cause you folks any anxiety, but he's
the smallest human being I ever saw outside of a dime museum. You want to feed him upon roast beef and porterhouse steak right away.

Uncle Jack (a dog fancier)—Is his nose cold? Hold him up by the back of his neck and we'll see if he's got any nerve.

Grandma—There you go, spoiling the
child as soon as he has his eyes open!
I suppose when he's a month old we shall all have to stand on our heads to amuse him! Give me that infant this instant before he has colic and dies!

The Family Cat—Well, that settles
my hash! It's either hunt a new home or become a tailless feline inside of a month. Why, that kid's got a grip on him like a longshoreman's!

The Baby—Goo-goo! Goo-goo! Googoo-goo-goo! Or, in other words, I'll make it good and hot for this family about midnight!—St. Louis Republic.

His Name Was Sufficient.

San Malato, the famous Sicilian duet-ist, seemed to have stepped into our prosaic modern life straight from the pages of Brantome. His fame had done more than penetrate the four corners of Europe. It had reached his own home. Some misguided Sicilian bandits held up a coach one night and summoned its solitary traveler to come out. From the shadowy depths of the vehicle came two short sentences in a cold, staccato voice:
"Spread out your cloaks. The mud must not spoil my boots when I descend." The cutthroats fled with the awe striking whisper of "San Malato" upon their quivering lips.—London Telegraph.

The Limit.

"What did the doctor say was the matter with you?"
"He said he didn't know."
"Well, what doctor are you going to next?"
"None. When a doctor dares to make such an admission as that he must be about as high in his profession as he can get."—London Mail.

Results of the Teachers' Examination

The returns of the recent teachers' examination were received a few days ago from the State Department of Public Instruction with the following results:

First grade certificates—R. R. Graham, Deerwood; Mrs. Odin Naustvold, Walker; Jessie Evans, Brainerd.

Complete second grade certificates—
Sue Bennington, Myrtle Cain, Lillian
Chadwick, Melissa Chord, Bertha Long,
Ella McGarry, Brainerd; Lottie Darling, Cutler; Laura Evans, Garrison;
Mrs. Clara Hough, Pequot; Hazel
Maghan, Katrine; Rae Welliver, Flak.

Conditioned second grade certificates issued as follows to those failing
in only one subject:

Carrie Deering, Lillian Ilse, Brainerd; Clara Elliott, Pequot; Clara Tuck, Deerwood.

Limited second grade certificates issued to those applicants who have passed in all subjects but have not the
five months experience required for complete second grade certificates were issued to the following:

Lucy Bennett, Theresa Hoerner,
Brainerd; Frank McNally, Nisswa.

Sixty applicants applied for certificates; of this number 21 receive certificates or about 33 per cent.

Fourteen found the Arithmetic too
hard for them, composition caused 13
failures, Geography five, Grammar 14, U. S. History 24, Penmanship six,
Physiology and Hygiene 18, Reading seven, while Civics was responsible for 31.

The large percentage of failures is attributable to several causes perhaps
the chief of these is that too many assume to become teachers when the applicant herself is only an eighth grade pupil. Too young and too much lacking in mental development to be able to pass any examination such as those assuming to teach others should be able to pass.

I find that parents are frequently at fault in this matter in that they often insist that the girl is large enough to teach and ought therefore to quit school and go to earning something. I fully sympathize with those parents with a family to support and all the necessities of life at such high prices that the father is often at a loss how
to clothe and feed his growing family
and feels that each member of the family should do all they can to help bear the burden. But all should remember that to license young people of immature age and preparation is only making a bad matter worse by depriving the children of the district of their natural right to be taught by those competent to teach them.

Several high school graduates are among the failures and these are attributable to the fact that these young people failed to realize that to succeed the graduate must continue to be a student.

Some failed from neglect to hand in return slips from previous examinations having standings that were high enough to be permanent. It seems queer that young people otherwise bright and intelligent will often neglect to read the certificate or failure slip, reading only the grades, and failing to see much other matter that is very important. Every county superintendent knows that it is not an infrequent occurrence.

To Digest the Food

Bile in the intestines is as important to digestion as are the gastric juices in the stomach and bile is only supplied when the liver is in active condition.

are cured by Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills because of their influence on the liver causing a good flow of bile to aid digestion and keep the bowels regular, thereby preventing fermentation of the food, the formation of gas and all the disagreeable symptoms of indigestion.

Long standing cases of chronic indigestion
yield to Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills after all else has failed.

Mr. F. W. BIGLEY, Murraysville, W. Va., writes:—"For sixteen years I suffered from indigestion and liver trouble and consulted several physicians in vain. Two boxes of Dr. A.
W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills did more for me than all the medicines I ever used. My mother used them with equally good results."

tremes.

AN expression of sentiment of the women of Minnesota as to their right
in 1910 if the bill of A. K. Ware becomes a law. The vote at that time will only be an expression as to whether or not they wish the right to vote in
the future.

Two St. Cloud boys have been recommended by Congressman Lindbergh,
one for appointment at the naval school
at Annapolis, and one at the army
school at West Point. A. U. Hammerel and Nathaniel Quikstad are the
young men who will take the examinations.

WITH the spring election only a month
candidates for city office than ever before in the history of the municipality.
satisfied with the present administration and there is no need of stirring matters up.

THE primary election law will not be
repealed by the present legislature,
which is as it should be. All the law
objectionable features, but the legislature seems to be afraid to undertake
the job for fear of impairing the law
already on the statute books.

THE Alderman bill limiting the number of saloons to one for every 500 people does not interfere with present con-
city or town shall be in excess of 500
for each saloon. In smaller places it
senate.

THE FUTURE OF THIS IRON STATE

Those who imagine the tonnage tax
issue is confined to St. Louis county have another guess to make. The field of active mining operations has now extended well into Itasca county, and the next scene of large operations will probably be Crow Wing county.

That lucious time over which so many wisacres "lop their chops," when
the Mesaba range will be but a succe-
sion of "holes in the ground," may come some day. But long before then
make the so-called "low-grade ores" merchantable.

Indeed a man in Michigan already believes he has discovered a process by
cost than now extracts the ore from the highest grade Bessemer. He has given
years to this work and millions of dollars in capital are backing his efforts,
while scientific minerologists, chemists
and experimenters in processes believe
he has solved the problem.

Whether he has or not, it is certain
some one will, and that within the very
near future. What this means to Minnesota every child knows or should
field of iron.

Mr. Thomas F. Cole surprised a Duluth audience only two years ago with the assertion that the iron in Minnesota extended to within fifty miles of the Twin cities, and nearly to the western

time since, his statement has largely
been verified.

It is now positively known that there is ore in large quantities in Cass, Carlton, Crow Wing, Morrison, Ottertail, Stearns, Hubbard, Aitkin, Todd and
Beltrami counties, as well as in St. Louis, Itasca and Cook. The ore beds of this
people who know best believe this;
but if they are in the mining activities
of the state will be but removed to
other counties.

Nothing of the future can be more
center of the nation's iron supply not
and that mere common sense points to
the fact that this should be the center
northwest.

It would seem natural that the people of the state should wish to hasten
this day, not retard it. And they do,
but many of their representatives at
St. Paul either mistake this sentiment
News-Tribune.

SIZING UP THE BABY.

Varying Views of the Different Members of the Family.

of the latest addition to the family:

The Mother—Oh, isn't he the cutest,
grandest, handsomest, smartest little
Such features! Such shoulders! And
derstands perfectly every word I say.

The Father—There's a boy for you!
Smith will brag about that kid of his,
youngster is a month old, and I'll take
the conceit out of Smith!

Little Bobby—So that's what the stork brought, eh? Gee, the stork must have it in for this family!

all his teeth, and all his hair's blown off!

Bachelor Brother—I don't want to
the smallest human being I ever saw
outside of a dime museum. You want to feed him upon roast beef and porterhouse steak right away.

Uncle Jack (a dog fancier)—Is his nose cold? Hold him up by the back
any nerve.

Grandma—There you go, spoiling the
I suppose when he's a month old we

The Family Cat—Well, that settles
my hash! It's either hunt a new home or become a tailless feline inside of a
him like a longshoreman's!

The Baby—Goo-goo! Goo-goo! Googoo-goo-goo! Or, in other words, I'll

His Name Was Sufficient.

San Malato, the famous Sicilian duel-ist, seemed to have stepped into our prosaic modern life straight from the
done more than penetrate the four corners of Europe. It had reached his
summoned its solitary traveler to
come out. From the shadowy depths
of the vehicle came two short sentences in a cold, staccato voice:
"Spread out your cloaks. The mud must not spoil my boots when I de-
awe striking whisper of "San Malato"
upon their quivering lips.—London Telegraph.

The Limit.

"What did the doctor say was the matter with you?"
"Well, what doctor are you going to

"None. When a doctor dares to make such an admission as that he must be
can get."—London Mail.

Results of the Teachers' Examination

The returns of the recent teachers'
examination were received a few days
ago from the State Department of Public Instruction with the following

First grade certificates—R. R. Gra-
Walker; Jessie Evans, Brainerd.

Sue Bennington, Myrtle Cain, Lillian
Chadwick, Melissa Chord, Bertha Long,
Ella McGarry, Brainerd; Lottie Dar-
ling, Cutler; Laura Evans, Garrison;
Mrs. Clara Hough, Pequot; Hazel
Maghan, Katrine; Rae Welliver, Flak.

Conditioned second grade certificates issued as follows to those failing
in only one subject:

Carrie Deering, Lillian Ilse, Brainerd; Clara Elliott, Pequot; Clara Tuck, Deerwood.

Limited second grade certificates issued to those applicants who have
five months experience required for
issued to the following:

Lucy Bennett, Theresa Hoerner,
Brainerd; Frank McNally, Nisswa.

Sixty applicants applied for certificates; of this number 21 receive certificates or about 33 per cent.

Fourteen found the Arithmetic too
hard for them, composition caused 13
U. S. History 24, Penmanship six,
Physiology and Hygiene 18, Reading seven, while Civics was responsible for 31.

The large percentage of failures is attributable to several causes perhaps
the chief of these is that too many assume to become teachers when the applicant herself is only an eighth grade
pupil. Too young and too much lacking in mental development to be able
assuming to teach others should be able
to pass.

I find that parents are frequently at
insist that the girl is large enough to
teach and ought therefore to quit
school and go to earning something. I fully sympathize with those parents
necessities of life at such high prices
that the father is often at a loss how
and feels that each member of the
family should do all they can to help
bear the burden. But all should remember that to license young people
only making a bad matter worse by
depriving the children of the district
of their natural right to be taught by those competent to teach them.

among the failures and these are attributable to the fact that these young people failed to realize that to succeed
student.

Some failed from neglect to hand in return slips from previous examinations having standings that were high
queer that young people otherwise
bright and intelligent will often neglect to read the certificate or failure
slip, reading only the grades, and fail-
very important. Every county superintendent knows that it is not an infrequent occurrence.

County Superintendent.

To Digest the Food

Bile in the intestines is as important to digestion as are the gastric juices in the stomach and bile is only supplied when the liver is in active
condition.

are cured by Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills because of their influence on the liver causing a good flow of bile to aid digestion and keep the bowels regular, there-
by preventing fermentation of the food, the formation of gas and all the disagreeable symptoms of indigestion.

yield to Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills after all else has failed.

Mr. F. W. BIGLEY, Murfreesville, W. Va., writes:—"For sixteen years I suffered from
indigestion and liver trouble and consulted several physicians in vain. Two boxes of Dr. A.
W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills did more
for me than all the medicines I ever used. My mother used them with equally good results."

At the Unique

Seldom are such pictures exhibited to the public as were shown at the Unique last night. The subjects are all "headliners" and a choice would be hard to designate. "Cock-a-Doodle" a trick picture fills the audience with wonderment at the seemingly impossible feats of magic while the subject
"Mrs. Jones Entertains" evoked much laughter. The subject "Queen of the Arena" by the Selig Polyscope Co., of Chicago, is one of the greatest productions of the year and is a special number showing the acts in a large circus from the box office to the fall of the canvas. This subject shows the trials of a star performer and is convincing that "circus life" is not all rosy. Miss Graham in illustrated song, "The Days of '49" sings in usual good voice and the illustrations accompanying are especially pretty, while the solo "Taf-fy," one of the late song hits, is beautifully rendered.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night.
I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." H. P. Dunn's

LONGER HOURS AT THE SHOPS

Commencing Monday the Northern Pacific Shops will increase Men's Time

CAR SHOPS GET NINE HOURS

Locomotive Shops will Work Six Days Each Week instead of Five as Now

Brainerd laboring and business men are pleased over the announcement that commencing Monday next the Northern Pacific shops will resume the hours worked prior to the reduction the latter part of January. It is announced from an authoritative source that commencing Monday next the car side will go onto nine hours per day instead of eight as at present. At the same time the locomotive side, which has been working but five day of eight hours each during the past six weeks, will work six days of eight hours each, thus materially adding to the earning capacity of the men. The short hours, of late, have caused retrenchment, not only because of smaller pay but because of uncertainty as to what was coming next. The increase will therefore do much to strengthen the confidence and loosen the purse strings of the people.

THIRD WARD SEWER

Meeting to be Held Monday Evening at Hose House to Consider Needs of the Ward

The people of the Third Ward are becoming much interested in the need of a district sewer for that ward and Mayor Crust has called a meeting of the citizens to be held at the hose house in that ward on Monday evening next to discuss the matter. The Lowell school building in that ward will install a $5,000 heating plant this season and as yet that building is not connected with the sewer system and the lack of sewerage in the ward is thought to be responsible in part for the prevalence of contagious diseases in the ward the past year or two. Many of the heaviest property holders are back of the move for sewers believing that it will increase the value of the property much more than it will cost.

THE ARMY DESERTER.

He is a Marked Man, and His Chances of Escape Are Few.

"The most persistently trailed law-breaker in the United States today is the deserter from the army," said a captain of the United States army.

"From the time he is found missing at the post where he is stationed until the inevitable hour when an officer of any of a dozen different federal and civil denominations lands him in custody he is a criminal marked for punishment, and he is shrewd indeed if he escapes.

"Four-fifths of the deserters are foreign born and professional army deserters with bad records left behind them in Europe. These men, as I understand it, deserted from armies in the old countries, came here in search of work, didn't get anything to suit them and joined our forces only to get tired and want to quit again. What they get in the end is a term in the guardhouse or in the national prison for bad soldiers.

"Beside the chances of an escaping soldier to get away from his punishment that of an ordinary jailbreaker, bounced by civil officers, is a bagatelle.
In the first place, a soldier in or out of uniform is a soldier in habits and carriage, with the telltale step and mannerisms of the service. The lockstep of the state prison will wear away because it is only an incidental of prison life, and the convict doing time can do it more or less perfectly, according to his inclination or the watchfulness of the guard, but the whole life of the soldier is soldiering, and he can never get away from it.

"Now, turn a man so marked out in the world with a fifty dollar reward on his head and send to every village postoffice, police station, constable, sheriff and United States marshal in the whole country his accurate description and a picture of him in two attitudes and you have placed him in the predicament of the deserting soldier and narrowed his chances to an infinitesimal bit of progress within fifty miles from the starting point without arrest."

The captain said that more money was probably spent by the government in advertising a deserter than the reward of $50 offered for his capture.— Washington Herald.

Keeping Up the Limit.

In J. Comyns Carr's reminiscences is a characteristic anecdote of Burne-Jones, who had consulted his doctor about certain symptoms which seemed alarming.

"How many cigars do you smoke in a day?" the doctor inquired of his patient, to which Burne-Jones had carelessly replied, "Oh, I think about six."
"Well," replied his adviser, "for the present you had better limit yourself to three." And in detailing the incident to me afterward Burne-Jones added, with a chuckle, "You know, my dear Carr, I never did smoke more than three."

ANNUAL MEETING

ing and Elected Officers Friday Evening--Feed Followed

The Bohemian club held its annual meeting Thursday evening and elected the following officers:

Pres.—John J. Cummins.
V. P.—H. E. Davis.
Sec.—H. E. Ousdahl.

Treas.—H. B. McCauley.
After election the members were entertained at a supper by Wm. Gross-

TAKE CARE OF BACKACHE

Simple Prescription of Vegetable Ingredients Which Prevents Serious Kidney Diseases

More people succumb each year to some form of kidney trouble than any other cause. The slightest form of kidney derangement often develops into Bright's kidney disease, diabetes or dropsy. When either of these diseases are suspected the sufferer should at once seek the best medical attention possible. Consult only a good, first-class physician.

There are many of the lesser symptoms of kidney trouble which can be treated at home is stated by a well known authority. For some of these, such as backache, pain in the region of the kidneys, weak bladder, frequency, (especially at night) painful scalding and other urinary troubles, try the following simple home remedy: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple ingredients are harmless and can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is no more effective remedy known to relieve all forms of rheumatism, because it acts directly upon the kidneys and blood. It cleans the clogged up pores in the kidneys so they can filter and strain from the blood the poisonous uric acid and waste matter which if not eliminated remain in the blood, decompose and settle about the joints and muscular tissues causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

Backache is nature's signal notifying the sufferer that the kidneys are not acting properly. "Take care of your kidneys," is now the physician's advice to his patients.

SHOULD WORK FOR BEAUTIFUL BRAINERD

Good Work of Last Two Seasons in Beautifying City Should be Continued

THERE SHOULD BE NO HALT

Such is the Opinion of the Lovers of Beauty Among Brainerd Citizens

"The good work done in the past two years in the way of a 'Beautiful Brainerd' should be continued the coming season," said a beauty loving citizen a few days ago. "Much has been done in removing unsightly trucks from the streets and vacant lots and in keeping the litter off the streets and the work should be taken up with increased energy when spring opens. One thing in which there might have been more progress made in the past is in the matter of keeping the litter and paper cleared from the streets. This litter is not only unsightly but it is a nuisance, causing runaways by frightening horses and stops up the catch basins and sewers. The city council was petitioned two years ago this spring to furnish iron cans or other receptacles at the corners of the principal streets for paper, etc., but was unable for financial reasons to comply with the request."

"The problem has been solved in a neighboring city by the gift of the receptacles by a business firm, it being conditioned that they be marked 'Presented by—,' thus giving the donor a return in advertisement for his donation. Possibly some firm in Brainerd might wish to do likewise if the matter was called to their attention."

The gentleman voiced an apparently growing sentiment for beautification which should and will probably do much to add to the beauty of the city.

At the Unique

Seldom are such pictures exhibited to the public as were shown at the Unique last night. The subjects are all "headliners" and a choice would be hard to designate. "Cock-a-Doodle" a trick picture fills the audience with wonderment at the seemingly impossible feats of magic while the subject "Mrs. Jones Entertains" evoked much laughter. The subject "Queen of the Arena" by the Selig Polyscope Co., of Chicago, is one of the greatest productions of the year and is a special number showing the acts in a large circus from the box office to the fall of the canvas. This subject shows the trials of a star performer and is convincing that "circus life" is not all rosy. Miss Graham in illustrated song, "The Days of '49" sings in usual good voice and the illustrations accompanying are especially pretty, while the solo "Taffy," one of the late song hits, is beautifully rendered.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." H. P. Dunn's drug store.

LONGER HOURS AT THE SHOPS

Commencing Monday the Northern Pacific Shops will increase Men's Time

Locomotive Shops will Work Six Days Each Week instead of Five as Now

Brainerd laboring and business men are pleased over the announcement that commencing Monday next the Northern Pacific shops will resume the hours worked prior to the reduction the latter part of January. It is announced from an authoritative source that commencing Monday next the car side will go onto nine hours per day instead of eight as at present. At the same time the locomotive side, which has been working but five day of eight hours each during the past six weeks, will work six days of eight hours each, thus materially adding to the earning capacity of the men. The short hours, of late, have caused retrenchment, not only because of smaller pay but because of uncertainty as to what was coming next. The increase will therefore do much to strengthen the confidence and loosen the purse strings of the people.

Meeting to be Held Monday Evening at Hose House to Consider Needs of the Ward

The people of the Third Ward are becoming much interested in the need of a district sewer for that ward and Mayor Crust has called a meeting of the citizens to be held at the hose house in that ward on Monday evening next to discuss the matter. The Lowell school building in that ward will install a $6,000 heating plant this season and as yet that building is not connected with the sewer system and the lack of sewerage in the ward is thought to be responsible in part for the prevalence of contagious diseases in the ward the past year or two. Many of the heaviest property holders are back of the move for sewers believing that it will increase the value of the property much more than it will cost.

THE ARMY DESERTER.

He is a Marked Man, and His Chances of Escape Are Few.

"The most persistently trailed law-breaker in the United States today is the deserter from the army," said a captain of the United States army.

"From the time he is found missing at the post where he is stationed until the inevitable hour when an officer of any of a dozen different federal and civic denominations lands him in custody he is a criminal marked for punishment, and he is shrewd indeed if he escapes.

"Four-fifths of the deserters are foreign born and professional army deserters with bad records left behind them in Europe. These men, as I understand it, deserted from armies in the old countries, came here in search of work, didn't get anything to suit them and joined our forces only to get tired and want to quit again. What they get in the end is a term in the guardhouse or in the national prison for bad soldiers.

"Beside the chances of an escaping soldier to get away from his punishment that of an ordinary jailbreaker, bounded by civil officers, is a bagatelle. In the first place, a soldier in or out of uniform is a soldier in habits and carriage, with the telltale step and mannerisms of the service. The lockstep of the state prison will wear away because it is only an incidental of prison life, and the convict doing time can do it more or less perfectly, according to his inclination or the watchfulness of the guard, but the whole life of the soldier is soldiering, and he can never get away from it.

"Now, turn a man so marked out in the world with a fifty dollar reward on his head and send to every village postoffice, police station, constable, sheriff and United States marshal in the whole country his accurate description and a picture of him in two attitudes and you have placed him in the predicament of the deserting soldier and narrowed his chances to an infinitesimal bit of progress within fifty miles from the starting point without arrest."

The captain said that more money was probably spent by the government in advertising a deserter than the reward of $50 offered for his capture.—Washington Herald.

Keeping Up the Limit.

In J. Comyns Carr's reminiscences is a characteristic anecdote of Burne-Jones, who had consulted his doctor about certain symptoms which seemed alarming.

"How many cigars do you smoke in a day?" the doctor inquired of his patient, to which Burne-Jones had carelessly replied, "Oh, I think about six." "Well," replied his adviser, "for the present you had better limit yourself to three." And in detailing the incident to me afterward Burne-Jones added, with a chuckle, "You know, my dear Carr, I never did smoke more than three."

RETURNS THE TAX MEASURE

Bill Will Be Ordered Printed and Will Come Up in Order—Senate Kills Four Primary Election Measures. House Favors Bill to Give Lieutenant Governor the Duties of the Governor During Latter's Absence From the State.

St. Paul, March 4.—Sooner than get into a wrangle over the tonnage tax the house committee on taxes decided to send the bill back to the house without recommendation.

When the report comes in the bill will be ordered printed and take its regular course, awaiting the report of the subcommittee which was appointed to ascertain whether the mines are now paying their just proportion of taxes and also to ascertain what has been done and what is contemplated regarding the steel plant.

That iron mines cannot be assessed and taxed fairly upon the present basis was the burden of Representative Bjorge's closing argument in favor of his bill. Representative Condon maintained that they can be assessed fairly on the ad valorem basis. But if a change of system is wanted, he told the tax committee the mines should be assessed upon the value and not the quantity of the output.

F. T. White's bill for a constitutional amendment to give the lieutenant governor the duties of the governor during the latter's absence from the state received the favorable action of the house in committee of the whole. White recalled the incident last fall when a messenger had to be sent to New Jersey to have the governor sign an extradition. He said that Illinois and Montana have this provision now.

Came Near Being Killed.

T. J. Brady's bill to license horse-shoers all over the state came near being killed, but was laid over.

F. B. Wright's bill making it a felony to use another's automobile without the owner's consent was amended so that the crime was made a gross misdemeanor and then recommended for passage.

The Holmberg bill for a better system of protecting forests against fire, the bill for a fourth judge in the St. Louis county district and R. L. Mork's bill providing penalties for making false representations in offering investment stocks were among the forty or more bills recommended to pass.

The committee voted to postpone indefinitely J. H. Calhoun's bill to wipe out the whole primary system and treated L. O. Cook's bill eliminating the primary system in all but the big cities in the same manner. Ole Sageng's proposition that county superintendents should be elected on a non-political ballot was also killed. Henry McCall's measure for the popular election of the United States senators suffered a like fate.

The slaughter of this latter measure will probably precipitate a fight on the floor of the senate.

John Moonan's bill extending the primary system to all state officers was recommended to be placed on general orders, after exclusion of that part which related to United States senators.

Endorsed by the Committee.

This action puts before the senate E. H. Canfield's bill for a primary system for delegates to conventions, and John Moonan's statewide primary bill, but the former bill has the endorsement of the committee.

In the same fashion was the action on the woman's suffrage bill. This will now appear for general orders without recommendations, its previous appearance having the label "indefinite postponement."

The house in committee of the whole recommended for passage Representative Deua's bill giving the counties 10 per cent of the money which the cities and villages receive from liquor licenses. The bill was amended so that the money will go to the general revenue fund instead of the road and bridge fund as originally provided.

The senate reenacted the commodity rate bill of the last session minus the penalty clause. This action was taken at the behest of the attorneys of the state who have charge of the rate cases now before the courts. It is hoped that by the reenactment the court will be duly impressed with what the sentiment of the legislature is on the subject of commodity rates.

The house passed J. O. Haugland's bill requiring the public examiner to examine all banks twice a year, after voting down J. G. Lennon's amendment to suspend the law until 1911.

Lennon said he wanted to delay the appointment of more Democrats, but L. C. Spooner said that was peanut politics. If the examiners were needed they should be appointed at once, otherwise the bill should be killed.

Looking for Mysterious Men in the Carmack Murder Case.

Nashville, Tenn., March 4.—After a strenuous recess day on the part of counsel on both sides in the Cooper Sharp trial for the murder of former United States Senator E. W. Carmack, only two facts developed. One was that S. J. Bennings, the defense witness who claimed that he saw Senator Carmack revolving the cylinder of a gun, will be recalled for further cross-examination by the state. The other was the feverish activity of the special agents or secret police of the prosecution. It developed that this activity was due to Attorney General McCann's belief that he had discovered a clue to the identity of one of three mysterious men who would make valuable witnesses for the prosecution.

Early on the day of Carmack's death, three men visited the office of the Nashville Tennessean. Each of these men asked at the business of the office if the clerk could give him Carmack's address and if he knew about what time the senator went home each afternoon. Two of the men called in the morning. The clerk did not know where Carmack lived. But after the second inquiry they secured the information and when the third man appeared, they gave him the address.

Counsel for defense were not less active. Old and new witnesses visited their offices all day and a number of new subpoenas were issued on their behalf. It became generally known that counsel for the prosecution would not cross-examine either Governor M. R. Patterson or Adjutant General Tully Brown.

Lincoln's Double Dead.

New York, March 5.—Abraham Lincoln's double, a man who so closely resembled the former president that he was often mistaken for him in Civil war days, is dead at his home here. He was Daniel Walford, who was born in England in 1822, and came to America thirty years later. Walford was the same height as Lincoln, and had the same stooping shoulders, rugged features, melancholy eyes and smile. The two became fast friends.

TEN PERSONS DIE IN TENEMENT FIRE

New York, March 4.—In spite of prompt and heroic work by police and firemen, a number of whom were seriously injured in trying to effect rescues, ten persons were suffocated and burned to death in a fire which destroyed a double tenement house in lower Seventh avenue in which thirty families, mostly of Italians, were asleep.

In addition, five persons were so seriously injured that they had to be removed to hospitals.

Although it was at first believed that the fire had been of incendiary origin, an investigation by the police and fire marshals revealed the fact that the blaze had started from natural causes.

The flames had already made such headway when the fire was discovered, however, that escape by the stairs was completely cut off. To make matters worse, the fire escapes were so littered that they, too, proved useless until the arrival of the firemen, who were compelled to waste valuable time in clearing them of rubbish.

The first policemen and firemen who reached the scene, finding access to the upper floors cut off, swung themselves across the facade of the building from window to window on swinging ladders from sidewalk to roof cornice. In this manner more than forty persons were removed to safety.

Costly Law Robes.

An English judge's outfit in the way of robes imposes a heavy tax upon the newly appointed judge, although the cost is not nearly so great as it was in the early days of Queen Victoria. Then it was the custom for the law luminaries to attend court functions in figured damask silk gowns, with costly lace bands and ruffles. Thesiger, a celebrated legal dignitary of that day, is said on one occasion to have spent £100 on bands alone. The lord chancellor's robes cost something like £150, and even a judge's stockings are an expensive item. The wardrobe of a judge costs anything from £500 to £600, and if the newly fledged "my lord" is attached to the king's bench division he will require five gowns, a girdle, a scarf, a casting hood, a black cap, a three cornered cap, a beaver hat, a cocked hat, a silk hat, lace bands and two full court suits, swords, etc., to keep up the majesty of the law.—London Globe.

A Rising Fall.

A certain member of the British government who was admittedly a great failure was being discussed by two of his colleagues. "And now," concluded one, "they want to make him a peer." "No," said the other, with greater acumen; "they want to make him disappear."

SEVERE STORM IN THE EAST

Blizzard Sweeps Over Atlantic Coast States.

THE WORST IN MANY YEARS

Telephone and Telegraph Companies Suffer Greatly, Wires in All Directions Being Down—Three Lives Lost in the Sinking of Six Barges at St. George, Staten Island—Washington Cut Off From Communication for Eight Hours.

New York, March 5.—As a result of the March blizzard which swept down unannounced, the Middle Atlantic seaboard from New York to Norfolk found itself buried in an avalanche of snow and swept by destructive winds. For a time here conditions seemed to threaten a repetition of the great blizzard of March 12, 1888, but the storm has sunk to less alarming proportions and there is promise of mild weather.

For the telephone and telegraph companies the storm was one of the worst in years. Wires in all directions went down at the wind's first onslaught. For eight hours Washington, the central point of America for the time being, was completely isolated and for a long time the only means of communication between the capital and the outside world was over three crippled telegraph wires, one to New York, one to Atlanta and a third to Charlottesville, Va. No telephone or railroad wires between New York and Washington or Baltimore were working.

The worst of the snow-laden hurricane struck a wedge of territory which included Washington and Baltimore. The region south of Philadelphia was well nigh a blank on the map for the greater part of the day.

Most Severe of the Winter.

In New York city the storm was one of the most severe of the winter, although the weather bureau asserted that the metropolis had received "only the edge of the disturbance." Three lives were lost in the sinking of six Baltimore and Ohio coal barges at St. George, Staten Island. The dead were Captain A. Mankey of the barge Joseph Stickney and Captain William H. Ferguson and his wife of the barge George H. Bates.

The gale descended upon New York harbor with the full fledged fury of an ocean-going hurricane. Barges that were under tow were blown ashore, while tugs and small boats were sent scurrying for cover. Several of them suffered heavy damage before reaching safe anchorage.

Street car and elevated lines throughout the city were badly crippled during the early hours of the day, but the ferries and the suburban roads had a still harder time in bringing their morning crowds. All the ferries ran on uncertain schedules because of the difficulty which they experienced in making their slips with the opposition of the heavy, choppy sea.

Much suffering was caused among the vast inauguration crowd in Washington by the wintry winds, the slush under foot and freezing temperature. Two persons were reported dead as a result of exposure, and many other persons are seriously ill.

COUNSEL END ARGUMENTS

Sugar Case Soon Will Be in Hands of the Jury.

New York, March 5.—Argument of counsel was heard in the suit brought by the United States against the American Sugar Refining company of New York for duty damages growing out of alleged fraudulent weighing by the company, and after Judge Holt's charge the case will go to the jury. Summing up for the defense, John B. Stanchfield, chief of counsel for the American Sugar company, declared that the principle of the prosecution of the government was in its essentials nothing more nor less than tyranny.

United States District Attorney Stimson, closing for the government, asserted that the action was not against any of the men who direct and own the American Sugar Refining company, but against sugar itself and if the sugar had gone into consumption the money representing that sugar was the just demand of the United States.

Woman Fatally Burned.

St. Paul, March 5.—Mrs. Lena Anderson, eighty years old, living at 795 Maryland street, was horribly burned about the body while alone in her cottage, and it is feared that the injuries will prove fatal. Screaming with pain, she ran from her home and fell unconscious just as neighbors, attracted by her screams, arrived with blankets and extinguished the flames.

Editors to Fight Legislation.

Des Moines, Ia., March 5.—Iowa editors and publishers have formed the Iowa Associated Dailies, to fight impending alleged harmful legislation aimed at restricting objectionable advertising which the publishers say is not questionable. They appeared before the senate.

HAD A VALUABLE NECKLACE

Greek Placed Under Arrest While Trying to Sell It in Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., March 5.—While trying to sell to Albert Edholm, a local jeweler, a necklace worth several thousand dollars, John D. Slavinitis, a Greek, who for convenience calls himself Savis, was arrested by the Omaha police. The necklace consists of a single string of sixty-three pearls, carefully matched and fastened with a clasp set with a diamond of unusual size. According to Mr. Edholm, whose opinion is corroborated by other experts, the strand may be valued as high as $50,000.

Savis entered the jewelry store and offered a single pearl for sale. Assuming himself of its genuineness, Mr. Edholm gave him a valuation of $50 or $60, whereupon the Greek offered to sell him a dozen at $40 each. The jeweler notified the police and two detectives were sent to the store, where the man was arrested. In his possession was found a huge 33-caliber revolver, but he made no resistance. At the station a search revealed the entire necklace, which he was carrying in his pocket. It was found that the gem offered for sale was the smallest of the sixty-three. Its value, Mr. Edholm estimated at $200 or $300.

JURORS COMPLAIN TO THE COURT

Object to Delays in Cooper-Sharp Trial.

Nashville, Tenn., March 5.—When court adjourned at night in the Cooper-Sharp trial for the murder of former Senator Carmack after a day marked by little progress and much wrangling between attorneys, the jury sent word to Judge Hart through a bailiff, "that they had complaint to make," the court called up one of their number—William Hows. The latter said:

"Most of the jurors are farmers. The time for spring planting is here. We want to get home. The entire crop for the year depends upon the planting. We feel that there are too many delays and too much argument. We ask the court to hurry things along. We would be glad to have night sessions and work longer during the day. But we want to get through and get through soon."

Judge Hart told Hows he realized how the jurors felt and that he would use every effort to make the case move more rapidly.

Georgia Negro Lynched.

Atlanta, Ga., March 5.—News has reached here of the lynching at Blakeley, Ga., of John Fowler, colored, who was in jail at that place charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Murchison Monday. The negro was taken from the jail by a crowd of about twenty-five and shot to death.

Daniels Breaks Record.

New York, March 5.—A crowd at the sportsmen's show saw Charles M. Daniels of the New York Athletic club beat the world's swimming record for 200 yards. The time was 2:15, while the old record, held by Daniels, was 2:15½.

PENSIONS FOR THE TEACHERS

Tri-County Delegation Favors Passage of Bill.

City Council Permitted to Make It for the Fund—New House Measure Would Merge Election Systems. James J. Hill Talks to the Lawmakers—Nine O'Clock Lid Proposed for Towns.

St. Paul, March 5.—After a prolonged discussion the teachers' pension bill, drawn up at the request of the teachers' federations of the three cities, was recommended to pass by the tri-county delegation. There was an effort to strike out the clause which permits the city council to levy a one-tenth mill tax for the fund, but it was voted down by a vote of 17 to 11. An amendment was inserted so that the teachers can form their relief associations without dictation by the school board or other body.

Before the executive session friends of the teachers in St. Paul and Minneapolis, appeared before the delegation and urged its passage. Mayor Haines of Minneapolis, Mayor Lawler of St. Paul, T. D. O'Brien of St. Paul, P. M. Roberts of Minneapolis, President Elwell of the Minneapolis school board, President C. W. Gordon of the St. Paul school board and Superintendent S. L. Heeter of St. Paul spoke for the bill.

A 9 o'clock lid is proposed for villages and cities of less than 2,000 in a bill introduced in the house by R. L. Mork of Briceyn. The same rule is applied to saloons licensed by county boards.

Another bill by Representative Carlson of Kokato provides that whenever a saloonkeeper sells any drink to a minor or other person to whom he is not allowed to sell it, the fact that he sold the liquor shall be prima facie evidence that it was intoxicating. This is intended to prevent them from pleading that they sold pop when arraigned for selling stuff to minors.

Liquor Bills a Feature.

Liquor bills were a feature in the house. The senate bill which limits saloons to one for each 500 inhabitants, passed by the senate, was substituted for the similar house bill on general orders.

John Lennon of Minneapolis tried to take his bill prohibiting saloons in villages within a mile of any public park in Minneapolis, from the general orders, and send it back to the committee. The house consented, then thought the matter over and passed the bill under suspension of the rules. F. B. Wright said the intention of the bill was to abolish one of the worst resorts in Hennepin county, the Keegan's lake saloon.

A license for brewers, distillers and wholesale dealers in liquor, to go to the state treasury, is proposed in a bill by H. G. Mattson of Roseau. The license fee is from $100 to $1,000, depending upon the volume of business.

Ole Peterson of Nicollet, the author of the bill which the house killed last week, requiring all road taxes to be paid in money and substituting a town inspector for the road overseers, introduced two bills designed to accomplish a small part of what was aimed at in the bill which was killed. One empowers villages to abolish the poll tax and to require all road taxes to be paid in cash instead of labor and the other authorizes towns which have voted to pay all road taxes in cash to appoint an inspector of roads for the town.

Roosevelt's Work Approved.

Republicans and Democrats in the house joined in passing a resolution instructing the speaker and the president of the senate to send a telegram to Colonel Roosevelt expressing their approval of his work, and to President Taft congratulating him and the people on his election.

When the resolution was signed, the senate had already adjourned, so it will have to pass the resolution a day late.

Before an audience of lawmakers and laymen that filled the house chamber in the capitol and packed its galleries, James J. Hill for two hours paid homage to his chief household gods—agriculture and conservation and railroad transportation. Much of it was the same gospel Mr. Hill has preached for a long time back, but he again pointed the way and gave warning of the danger, which he said existed today greater and more menacing than it had at any time since the dawn of the present commercial era.

An election measure intended to combine the good features of the present primary and the convention systems was introduced in the house by A. K. Ware of Northfield. Candidates are not to file for nomination at the primaries, but party conventions will name three for each office, including state offices, to be voted on at the September primary, but a blank is to be left so that the voters can substitute any other name if they wish.

The senate committee on forestry recommended for passage the bill providing for the purchase of 450 acres in the Fond du Lac Indian reservation to be added to a gift of 2,200 acres, all to be used for a large forest reservation.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. This tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful, gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruse your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's a simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Carving Scissors.

"I thought I knew all about scissors," said the man. "I had seen tailors' scissors for cutting heavy cloth, dressmakers' scissors for cutting flimsy fabrics and lace and still other scissors for cutting paper, finger nails, grapevines, all kinds of metals and even for shearing sheep, but in spite of that well-knowledge of scissors I was puzzled when I saw the large, peculiarly shaped pair of scissors lying in the showcase."

"What are these scissors for?" I asked the clerk.

"Carving meat," he said. "With scissors of this kind carving becomes mere child's play."

"I never saw anybody use them," said I.

"Nobody does use them," said the clerk—"that is, only a very few. In Europe carving scissors are popular because they cut right through meat, gristle, bone and all, but it takes a little practice to learn to manipulate the things, and nobody in this country has patience enough for that."—Exchange.

An Astrologer's Letter.

An astrologer's letter to President Van Buren forecasting the results of his election in 1840 is in the library of congress and perhaps gives a crude idea of some of the fallacies of our grandfathers. The following are some extracts: "In this horoscope the ascendant directed to the semisquare of Mars would be in operation about the middle of the fourth year, October, 1785, and might cause sickness, * * * flux or hurt by wounds," etc. * * *

"I have opened the horoscope for General Harrison, which accords with the chief events of his past life and which if right he will not fill the office of president during the next term even if elected. And the danger I apprehend to yourself is not from your public opponents, but from those on whom you repose confidence." Those who are superstitious may be inclined to credit this star gazer with some measure of wisdom, for Harrison, although elected, died a month after his inauguration.—New York Post.

Home Loving Montenegris.

Nowhere is love of country more intense than among the Montenegris, to whom exile is the greatest of punishments. When W. J. Stillman was there in the seventies all the free men were away fighting, and he observed that when a messenger was wanted the official took a man out of the prison and sent him off, with no fear that he would not return. One such messenger was sent to Cattaro, in Austrian territory, with a large sum of money for the bank, and he duly came back. Another asked a Russian at Cattaro to intercede with Prince Nicholas for his release from prison. "But you are not in prison," said the Russian. "Oh," said the man, "I have only come down for a load of skins for So-and-so, but I must go into prison again when I get back to Cetinje." One prison guard watched all the prisoners out of doors, and if he was called away a prisoner would take his rifle and act as sentry for the time.

Bill Will Be Ordered Printed and Will Come Up in Order—Senate Kills Four Primary Election Measures. House Favors Bill to Give Lieutenant Governor the Duties of the Governor During Latter's Absence From the State.

St. Paul, March 4.—Sooner than get into a wrangle over the tonnage tax the house committee on taxes decided to send the bill back to the house without recommendation.

When the report comes in the bill will be ordered printed and take its regular course, awaiting the report of the subcommittee which was appointed to ascertain whether the mines are now paying their just proportion of taxes and also to ascertain what has been done and what is contemplated regarding the steel plant.

That iron mines cannot be assessed and taxed fairly upon the present basis was the burden of Representative Bjorge's closing argument in favor of his bill. Representative Condon maintained that they can be assessed fairly on the ad valorem basis. But if a change of system is wanted, he told the tax committee the mines should be assessed upon the value and not the quantity of the output.

F. T. White's bill for a constitutional amendment to give the lieutenant governor the duties of the governor during the latter's absence from the state received the favorable action of the house in committee of the whole. White recalled the incident last fall when a messenger had to be sent to New Jersey to have the governor sign an extradition. He said that Illinois and Montana have this provision now.

T. J. Brady's bill to license horse-shoers all over the state came near being killed, but was laid over.

F. B. Wright's bill making it a felony to use another's automobile without the owner's consent was amended so that the crime was made a gross misdemeanor and then recommended for passage.

The Holmberg bill for a better system of protecting forests against fire, the bill for a fourth judge in the St. Louis county district and K. L. Mork's bill providing penalties for making false representations in offering investment stocks were among the forty or more bills recommended to pass.

In star chamber session the senate elections committee killed four bills and greatly cleared the legislative atmosphere on the primary election question.

The committee voted to postpone indefinitely J. H. Calhoun's bill to wipe out the whole primary system and treated L. O. Cook's bill eliminating the primary system in all but the big cities in the same manner. Ole Sageng's proposition that county superintendents should be elected on a non-political ballot was also killed. Henry McCall's measure for the popular election of the United States senators suffered a like fate.

The slaughter of this latter measure will probably precipitate a fight on the floor of the senate.

John Moonan's bill extending the primary system to all state officers was recommended to be placed on general orders, after exclusion of that part which related to United States senators.

Endorsed by the Committee.

This action puts before the senate E. H. Canfield's bill for a primary system for delegates to conventions, and John Moonan's statewide primary bill, but the former bill has the endorsement of the committee.

The house in committee of the whole recommended for passage Representative Duea's bill giving the counties 10 per cent of the money which the cities and villages receive from liquor licenses. The bill was amended so that the money will go to the general revenue fund instead of the road and bridge fund as originally provided.

The senate re-enacted the commodity rate bill of the last session minus the penalty clause. This action was taken at the behest of the attorneys of the state who have charge of the rate cases now before the courts. It is hoped that by the re-enactment the court will be duly impressed with what the sentiment of the legislature is on the subject of commodity rates.

The house passed J. O. Haugland's bill requiring the public examiner to examine all banks twice a year, after voting down J. G. Lennon's amendment to suspend the law until 1911.

Lennon said he wanted to delay the appointment of more Democrats, but L. C. Spooner said that was peanut politics. If the examiners were needed they should be appointed at once, otherwise the bill should be killed.

Looking for Mysterious Men in the Carmack Murder Case.

Nashville, Tenn., March 4.—After a strenuous recess day on the part of counsel on both sides in the Cooper Sharp trial for the murder of former United States Senator E. W. Carmack, only two facts developed. One was that S. J. Bennings, the defense witness who claimed that he saw Senator Carmack revolving the cylinder of a gun, will be recalled for further cross-examination by the state. The other was the feverish activity of the special agents or secret police of the prosecution. It developed that this activity was due to Attorney General McCann's belief that he had discovered a clue to the identity of one of three mysterious men who would make valuable witnesses for the prosecution.

Early on the day of Carmack's death, three men visited the office of the Nashville Tennessean. Each of these men asked at the business office if the clerk could give him Carmack's address and if he knew about what time the senator went home each afternoon. Two of the men called in the morning. The clerks did not know where Carmack lived. But after the second inquiry they secured the information and when the third man appeared, they gave him the address.

Counsel for defense were not less active. Old and new witnesses visited their offices all day and a number of new subpoenas were issued on their behalf. It became generally known that counsel for the prosecution would not cross-examine either Governor M. R. Patterson or Adjutant General Tully Brown.

Lincoln's Double Dead.

New York, March 5.—Abraham Lincoln's double, a man who so closely resembled the former president that he was often mistaken for him in Civil war days, is dead at his home here. He was Daniel Walford, who was born in England in 1822, and came to America thirty years later. Walford was the same height as Lincoln, and had the same stooping shoulders, rugged features, melancholy eyes and smile. The two became fast friends.

New York, March 4.—In spite of prompt and heroic work by police and firemen, a number of whom were seriously injured in trying to effect rescue, ten persons were suffocated and burned to death in a fire which destroyed a double tenement house in lower Seventh avenue in which thirty families, mostly of Italians, were asleep.

In addition, five persons were so seriously injured that they had to be removed to hospitals.

Although it was at first believed that the fire had been of incendiary origin, an investigation by the police and fire marshals revealed the fact that the blaze had started from natural causes.

The flames had already made such headway when the fire was discovered, however, that escape by the stairs was completely cut off. To make matters worse, the fire escapes were so littered that they, too, proved useless until the arrival of the firemen, who were compelled to waste valuable time in clearing them of rubbish.

The first policemen and firemen who reached the scene, finding access to the upper floors cut off, swung themselves across the facade of the building from window to window on swinging blinds and crawled up swaying extension ladders from sidewalk to roof cornice. In this manner more than forty persons were removed to safety.

Costly Law Robes.

An English judge's outfit in the way of robes imposes a heavy tax upon the newly appointed judge, although the cost is not nearly so great as it was in the early days of Queen Victoria. Then it was the custom for the law luminaries to attend court functions in figured damask silk gowns, with costly lace bands and ruffles. These, a celebrated legal dignitary of that day, is said on one occasion to have spent £100 on bands alone. The lord chancellor's robes cost something like £150, and even a judge's stockings are an expensive item. The wardrobe of a judge costs anything from £500 to £600, and if the newly fledged "my lord" is attached to the king's bench division he will require five gowns, a girdle, a scarf, a casting hood, a black cap, a three cornered cap, a beaver hat, a cocked hat, a silk hat, lace bands and two full court suits, swords, etc., to keep up the majesty of the law.—London Globe.

A Rising Fall.

Blizzard Sweeps Over Atlantic Coast States.

THE WORST IN MANY YEARS

Telephone and Telegraph Companies Suffer Greatly, Wires in All Directions Being Down—Three Lives Lost in the Sinking of Six Barges at St. George, Staten Island—Washington Cut Off From Communication for Eight Hours.

New York, March 5.—As a result of the March blizzard which swept down unannounced, the Middle Atlantic seaboard from New York to Norfolk found itself buried in an avalanche of snow and swept by destructive winds. For a time here conditions seemed to threaten a repetition of the great blizzard of March 12, 1888, but the storm has sunk to less alarming proportions and there is promise of mild weather.

For the telephone and telegraph companies the storm was one of the worst in years. Wires in all directions went down at the wind's first onslaught. For eight hours Washington, the central point of America for the time being, was completely isolated and for a long time the only means of communication between the capital and the outside world was over three crippled telegraph wires, one to New York, one to Atlanta and a third to Charlottesville, Va. No telephone or railroad wires between New York and Washington or Baltimore were working.

In New York city the storm was one of the most severe of the winter, although the weather bureau asserted that the metropolis had received "only the edge of the disturbance." Three lives were lost in the sinking of six Baltimore and Ohio coal barges at St. George, Staten Island. The dead were Captain A. Mankey of the barge Joseph Stickney and Captain William H. Ferguson and his wife of the barge George H. Bates.

The gale descended upon New York harbor with the full fledge fury of an ocean-going hurricane. Barges that were under tow were blown ashore, while tugs and small boats were sent scurrying for cover. Several of them suffered heavy damage before reaching safe anchorage.

Street car and elevated lines throughout the city were badly crippled during the early hours of the day, but the ferries and the suburban roads had a still harder time in bringing their morning crowds. All the ferries ran on uncertain schedules because of the difficulty which they experienced in making their slips with the opposition of the heavy, choppy sea.

Much suffering was caused among the vast inauguration crowd in Washington by the wintry winds, the slush under foot and freezing temperature. Two persons were reported dead as a result of exposure, and many other persons are seriously ill.

Sugar Case Soon Will Be in Hands of the Jury.

New York, March 5.—Argument of counsel was heard in the suit brought by the United States against the American Sugar Refining company of New York for duty damages growing out of alleged fraudulent weighing by the company, and after Judge Holt's charge the case will go to the jury. Summing up for the defense, John B. Stanchfield, chief of counsel for the American Sugar company, declared that the principle of the prosecution of the government was in its essentials nothing more nor less than tyranny.

United States District Attorney Stimson, closing for the government, asserted that the action was not against any of the men who direct and own the American Sugar Refining company, but against sugar itself and if the sugar had gone into consumption the money representing that sugar was the just demand of the United States.

Woman Fatally Burned.

St. Paul, March 5.—Mrs. Lena Anderson, eighty years old, living at 795 Maryland street, was horribly burned about the body while alone in her cottage, and it is feared that the injuries will prove fatal. Screaming with pain, she ran from her home and fell unconscious just as neighbors, attracted by her screams, arrived with blankets and extinguished the flames.

Editors to Fight Legislation.

Des Moines, Ia., March 5.—Iowa editors and publishers have formed the Iowa Associated Dailies, to fight impending alleged harmful legislation aimed at restricting objectionable advertising which the publishers say is not questionable. They appeared before the senate.

Omaha, Neb., March 5.—While trying to sell to Albert Edholm, a local jeweler, a necklace worth several thousand dollars, John D. Scavintilis, a Greek, who for convenience calls himself Savis, was arrested by the Omaha police. The necklace consists of a single string of sixty-three pearls, carefully matched and fastened with a clasp set with a diamond of unusual size. According to Mr. Edholm, whose opinion is corroborated by other experts, the strand may be valued as high as $50,000.

Savis entered the jewelry store and offered a single pearl for sale. Assuring himself of its genuineness, Mr. Edholm gave him a valuation of $50 or $60, whereupon the Greek offered to sell him a dozen at $40 each. The jeweler notified the police and two detectives were sent to the store, where the man was arrested. In his possession was found a huge 33-caliber revolver, but he made no resistance. At the station a search revealed the entire necklace, which he was carrying in his pocket. It was found that the gem offered for sale was the smallest of the sixty-three. Its value, Mr. Edholm estimated at $200 or $300.

JURORS COMPLAIN TO THE COURT

Object to Delays in Cooper-Sharp Trial.

Nashville, Tenn., March 5.—When court adjourned at night in the Cooper-Sharp trial for the murder of former Senator Carmack after a day marked by little progress and much wrangling between attorneys, the jury sent word to Judge Hart through a bailiff, "that they had complaint to make," the court called up one of their number—William Hows. The latter said:

"Most of the jurors are farmers. The time for spring planting is here. We want to get home. The entire crop for the year depends upon the planting. We feel that there are too many delays and too much argument. We ask the court to hurry things along. We would be glad to have night sessions and work longer during the day. But we want to get through and get through soon."

Judge Hart told Hows he realized how the jurors felt and that he would use every effort to make the case move more rapidly.

Georgia Negro Lynched.

Atlanta, Ga., March 5.—News has reached here of the lynching at Blakeley, Ga., of John Fowler, colored, who was in jail at that place charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Murchison Monday. The negro was taken from the jail by a crowd of about twenty-five and shot to death.

Daniels Breaks Record.

PENSIONS FOR THE TEACHERS

City Council Permitted to Make It for the Fund—New House Measure Would Merge Election Systems. James J. Hill Talks to the Lawmakers—Nine O'Clock Laid Proposed for Towns.

St. Paul, March 5.—After a prolonged discussion the teachers' pension bill, drawn up at the request of the teachers' federations of the three cities, was recommended to pass by the tri-county delegation. There was an effort to strike out the clause which permits the city council to levy a one-tenth mill tax for the fund, but it was voted down by a vote of 17 to 11. An amendment was inserted so that the teachers can form their relief associations without dictation by the school board or other body.

Before the executive session friends of the teachers in St. Paul and Minneapolis, appeared before the delegation and urged its passage. Mayor Haines of Minneapolis, Mayor Lawler of St. Paul, T. D. O'Brien of St. Paul, P. M. Roberts of Minneapolis, President Elwell of the Minneapolis school board, President C. W. Gordon of the St. Paul school board and Superintendent S. L. Heeter of St. Paul spoke for the bill.

A 9 o'clock lid is proposed for villages and cities of less than 2,000 in a bill introduced in the house by R. L. Mork of Briceyn. The same rule is applied to saloons licensed by county boards.

Another bill by Representative Carlson of Kokato provides that whenever a saloonkeeper sells any drink to a minor or other person to whom he is not allowed to sell it, the fact that he sold the liquor shall be prima facie evidence that it was intoxicating. This is intended to prevent them from pleading that they sold pop when arraigned for selling stuff to minors.

Liquor bills were a feature in the house. The senate bill which limits saloons to one for each 500 inhabitants, passed by the senate, was substituted for the similar house bill on general orders.

John Lennon of Minneapolis tried to take his bill prohibiting saloons in villages within a mile of any public park in Minneapolis, from the general orders, and send it back to the committee. The house consented, then thought the matter over and passed the bill under suspension of the rules. F. B. Wright said the intention of the bill was to abolish one of the worst resorts in Hennepin county, the Keegan's lake saloon.

A license for brewers, distillers and wholesale dealers in liquor, to go to the state treasury, is proposed in a bill by H. G. Mattson of Roseau. The license fee is from $100 to $1,000, depending upon the volume of business.

Ole Peterson of Nicollet, the author of the bill which the house killed last week, requiring all road taxes to be paid in money and substituting a town inspector for the road overseers, introduced two bills designed to accomplish a small part of what was aimed at in the bill which was killed. One empowers villages to abolish the poll tax and to require all road taxes to be paid in cash instead of labor and the other authorizes towns which have voted to pay all road taxes in cash to appoint an inspector of roads for the town.

Republicans and Democrats in the house joined in passing a resolution instructing the speaker and the president of the senate to send a telegram to Colonel Roosevelt expressing their approval of his work, and to President Taft congratulating him and the people on his election.

When the resolution was signed, the senate had already adjourned, so it will have to pass the resolution a day late.

Before an audience of lawmakers and laymen that filled the house chamber in the capitol and packed its galleries, James J. Hill for two hours paid homage to his chief household gods—agricultural conservation and railroad transportation. Much of it was the same gospel Mr. Hill has preached for a long time back, but he again pointed the way and gave warning of the danger, which he said existed today greater and more menacing than it had at any time since the dawn of the present commercial era.

An election measure intended to combine the good features of the present primary and the convention systems was introduced in the house by A. K. Ware of Northfield. Candidates are not to file for nomination at the primaries, but party conventions will name three for each office, including state offices, to be voted on at the September primary, but a blank is to be left so that the voters can substitute any other name if they wish.

The senate committee on forestry recommended for passage the bill providing for the purchase of 450 acres in the Fond du Lac Indian reservation to be added to a gift of 2,200 acres, all to be used for a large forest reservation.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's a painful period with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Brise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain always. It's simply Common Sense.

Carving Scissors.
"I thought I knew all about scissors," said the man. "I had seen tailors' scissors for cutting heavy cloth, dressmakers' scissors for cutting filmy fabrics and lace and still other scissors for cutting paper, finger nails, grapevines, all kinds of metals and even for shearing sheep, but in spite of that wide knowledge of scissors I was puzzled when I saw the large, peculiarly shaped pair of scissors lying in the showcase."

"What are these scissors for?" I asked the clerk.
"Carving meat," he said. "With scissors of this kind carving becomes mere child's play."
"I never saw anybody use them," said I.
"Nobody does use them," said the clerk—that is, only a very few. In Europe carving scissors are popular because they cut right through meat, gristle, bone and all, but it takes a little practice to learn to manipulate the things, and nobody in this country has patience enough for that."—Exchange.

An Astrologer's Letter.
An astrologer's letter to President Van Buren forecasting the results of his election in 1840 is in the library of congress and perhaps gives a crude idea of some of the fallacies of our grandfathers. The following are some extracts: "In this horoscope the ascendant directed to the semisquare of Mars would be in operation about the middle of the fourth year, October, 1785, and might cause sickness, . . . flux or hurt by wounds," etc. . . . "I have opened the horoscope for General Harrison, which accords with the chief events of his past life and which if right he will not fill the office of president during the next term even if elected. And the danger I apprehend to yourself is not from your public opponents, but from those on whom you repose confidence." Those who are superstitious may be inclined to credit this star gazer with some measure of wisdom, for Harrison, although elected, died a month after his inauguration.—New York Post.

Home Loving Montenegrins.
Nowhere is love of country more intense than among the Montenegrins, to whom exile is the greatest of punishments. When W. J. Stillman was there in the seventies all the free men were away fighting, and he observed that when a messenger was wanted the official took a man out of the prison and sent him off, with no fear that he would not return. One such messenger was sent to Cattaro, in Austrian territory, with a large sum of money for the bank, and he duly came back. Another asked a Russian at Cattaro to intercede with Prince Nicholas for his release from prison. "But you are not in prison," said the Russian. "Oh," said the man, "I have only come down for a load of skins for So-and-so, but I must go into prison again when I get back to Cetinje." One prison guard watched all the prisoners when they sunned themselves out of doors, and if he was called away a prisoner would take his rifle and act as sentry for the time.
